

Proximity Learning

— An ASS Company —

VIRTUAL LEARNING COACH

A Virtual Learning Coach “VLC” can help develop dynamic lessons, observe classes, teach a class with the teacher, find resources, and assist with parent contact.

- Focus on delivering instruction, not the systems. There is a tendency for the teacher in an online classroom to stand and deliver, but our VLC’s will coach how to engage with the students and empower them in their learning.
- Could be eligible for consideration as PD.
- Would set up office hours and observe classes as needed to assess or provide feedback.
- Obtain Access to PLI’s Full Content Library

What our VLC will train your teachers on:

- How to transition from a brick and mortar setting to the virtual classroom setting.
- How to be a professional online teacher – you will have access to a master online teacher who has already made the transition and is able to answer questions that are unique to online learning.
- How to be flexible with the students’ home environment which is now their classroom.
- How to manage an online classroom so that engaging and effective learning is happening.
- How to manage student attendance.
- How to keep parents informed of their students’ progress.
- How to incorporate online tools to make online learning engaging and student centered.
- How to present, instruct, and manage student data in the online platform.

Who is a VLC for?

Teachers who are struggling with online instruction.

When is the VLC available?

- VLC will provide 15 hours of real-time accessibility per week (1-2 hours in the am, 1-2 hours in the pm daily). Up to 60 hours total in 30 days.
- Teachers can send questions into the VLC if they are unable to join the scheduled real-time sessions and VLC will provide a response within 24 hours (SLA).